HARDING SAYS NO TO PENSION GRAB, VETO IS FIRST OF KIND

President Halts Projected Raid On Treasury

HITS AT SENATOR

As Wars Recede, Government Doles Increase

Exclusive Dispatch to THE CHINA PRESS

Washington, Jan. 4.—President Harding today vetoed the so-called Bursum pension bill providing for increased pensions for Civil and Mexican war veterans and their dependents. The measure, like all pension bills before it, passed both houses of Congress by big majorities, but the President, in line with his declared policy of governmental economy, declined to add his signature, saying that "the increased expenditure involved would amount to heedlessness."

Following the veto, which fell like a bombshell among the "pork" solons on Capitol Hill, a White House attache announced that the Bursum bill was the first general pension bill ever to be vetoed by a president in the history of the United States.

The Bursum bill took its name from Senator Holm O. Bursum, Republican, from New Mexico, and like its predecessors on the Pension Committee's calendar was eagerly accepted by both the upper and lower houses of Congress.

SPONSORS SHOCKED

The sponsors of the bill, acting on the theory that as the number of war veterans diminished the pension allowances to the remaining ones could be increased, thereby maintaining the annual appropriation for this purpose, were shocked and surprised when the news of the veto reached them. This action on the part of the president, they expostulated, was nothing short of revolutionary, and constituted the rawest kind of White House interference with legislative perogatives.

To understand the intensity of the wail let out by these disappointed ones it should be explained that war pensions in the United States are not granted primarily with the idea of rewarding the defenders of the nation's honor and liberty in time of war, or their dependents after their death. On the contrary the pension bills, or "grabs" as they are spoken of in Washington, are first of all political measures, with a sentimental importance that is entirely secondary.

The annual pension appropriation, therefore, is in the same category as the Rivers and Harbors bill, most notorious of all pork barrel measures, the only difference being that the pension bills, having ostensibly a more patriotic purpose, enjoyed longer immunity from attacks in and out of Congress.

RAIDS INCREASED

Thus when the pork barrel Congressmen found out how easy it was to get money out of the public treasury for the ostensible purpose of rewarding war veterans, but really to keep their own political fences in repair their raids became increasingly bolder, until, in 1921, the last year for which figures are available, the total amount disbursed was $258,000,000, against $152,000,000 in 1911, and against $138,000,000 in 1902, the year in which the number of pensioners reached the high water mark of 999,446. In 1921, when the pension roll was nearly twice what it was in 1901 the number of pensioners was less than half as many.

Numerous attempts have been made to start a "house cleaning" in the government pension bureau at Washington, and to "show up" the hordes of undeserving pensioners on the rolls, but nothing of an official nature has ever been done and until President Harding's veto today no official hand has ever been lifted against the pension raiders.

Numerous private exposures have been made, including a long series of articles in a leading magazine some years ago, but no official notice was taken of these attacks despite the fact that the most barefaced frauds were shown, with names, dates and places.

BY J. L. BUTTS

Loo Sah-dzung, is up to his neck in an apparently shoreless puddle of perplexity, with the footing growing constantly more treacherous, and not a life preserver in sight.

Loo thought he was about to disentangle himself from his domestic quagmire when he haled Loo Tsang-sze, his wife, into the Mixed Court the other day, and the light of achievement flickered in his eye. Mrs. Loo, he told the Court, had run away from him half a dozen times. And every time she had run away she took with her a hasty collection of pawnable articles of bric-a-brac and wearing apparel necessary even to a bachelor establishment. The first five times this happened, Loo continued, he had taken her back and forgiven her; but the last time she disappeared there was a shortage of $128 in silver, 140 in notes, two gold rings and a gold pin when he checked over the contents of his strong box. He thought this was about the psychological stage for applying the brakes, so he called on the law for assistance.

The Court fluttered the pages of the Chinese Criminal Code. Then it read Loo the following from Art. 381:

"Any person wo commits an offense under Art. 367 and Sec. 1 of Art. 377, against property of any lineal descendant, husband or wife, or any other relative residing in the same house, shall be exempt from punishment."

On its own account the Court added:

"Case dismissed."

Loo let it sink in, then faded slowly out of the picture, wearing the look of a man who, while ruminating on the brighter things in life, has been hit with a full-sized brickbat.

WHEN ALL SIGNS FAIL

Business was rapidly getting worse and worse in the fortune telling line, so far as Ching Tsu-li was concerned. The connection with the invisible agents seemed to be short-circuited or jangled up somehow and his prognostications, in consequence, were failing to transpire with 100 percent regularity. Thus Ching's erstwhile profitable clientele had first began observing him with dubious eye and finally had taken to shunning his establishment as a seat of diabolical misinformation.

With a brow like a washboard Ching sat glooming in his 4-by-6 temple of necromancy on the Tong Dong Ka Loong and inventoried his more recent career, trying to think up some reason for the defection of the gods. As he pondered his moody eye came to rest on the person of Lien Sih-sz, his partner of eight years standing in the prediction business and the chief consulting expert for his feminine patrons. And as he gazed, sub-consciously running over her past assistance in the business and at the same time trying to figure out what in Sam Hill had turned the mystic powers against him and queered all his best promises, a thought flashed in his brain pan. He glared at Lien Sih-sz. Here was the factor that had balled up the lines of occult communication!

The next morning found Ching ensconced in a new apartment a short distance farther down the Loong, dispensing predictions with a newborn look of assurance and with a new feminine assistant at his side, while Lien Sih-sz wept at the old stand and told her troubles to one Nyui Andaung, a remote relative.

Nyui consoled his kinswoman, and then whispered a plan of vengeance into her ear.

On the morning following Ching awoke to find business all gone to pot again. Many anxious-eyed pedestrians strode past who, Ching could see, were intent on having their horoscopes plumbed, but never a glance had they for him. It didn't take him long to discover the reason this time, however. Venturing out into the alleyway he found that all three of the signboards which proclaimed his craft and capabilities were missing from before the shop. Ching

RUSS REFUGEES AT WOOSUNG TO SAIL TODAY OR TOMORROW

Admiral Stark Will Leave 200 Orphans Behind

HIS PORT SECRET

One Arrested With 24 Bombs He Had For Sale

Sometime tonight or early tomorrow morning the fifteen portless Russian refugee vessels, which for over two weeks have been anchored off the Woosung breakwater, will sail out of China waters in search of a port of welcome elsewhere on the seven seas, according to information received from Mr. V. Grosse of the Bureau for Russian Affairs last night.

When they sail they will leave behind them over 200 orphans and a number of the refugees who have found some means of livelihood in Shanghai or environs. Among these left behind will be Vsevolod Valantineovitch Coshtool, an ex-soldier in the White Guard forces, who was arrested late Thursday night in possession of 24 bombs in a Chinese hotel.

Coshtool was arrested at 117 Tibet Road by Detective Inspector John Sullivan and 24 bombs and a fully loaded five-chambered revolver and 7 rounds of ammunition was discovered in a brown leather bag in his possession.

BOMBS FOR SALE

When Coshtool was charged before British Assessor Blackburn and Magistrate Li in the Mixed Court yesterday he pleaded that he did not know that it was against the law to be carrying such dangerous explosives, and that he had brought them ashore from the refugee vessel at Woosung upon the advice of a friend who had told him that the Shanghai Municipal Police were in the market for such playthings, and that he could easily sell them to the police.

Inspector Sullivan told the Court that the police held the opinion that Coshtool was innocent in the matter and were merely interested in having the bombs confiscated. Assessor Blackburn, after explaining the offense to the Russian, ordered the bombs and revolvers confiscated, and allowed him his freedom with a warning.

The bombs were all of the Russian military pattern, somewhat like a Mills bomb, and of the same kind that exploded on one of the Russian ships a week ago, killing the man in whose possession it was, and injuring two others, one a 12-year old boy who is still confined in the General Hospital.

DESTINATION SECRET

Where the fifteen vessels will go from Woosung is being kept a secret by Admiral Stark, commander of the portless flotilla, evidently with a view of keeping the Soviet Government in ignorance of their movements. The Soviet have begun diplomatic negotiations with Peking with a view of stopping the sale of any of the vessels in China, and have published announcements warning prospective buyers of any of the vessels that they were the property of the Soviet.

It is assumed, however, that the vessels will head for Hongkong, Manila or Saigon from Woosung despite the fact that it has been intimated that the authorities at those ports are not anxious to put up welcome flags upon their approach. The general opinion prevalent is that the vessels will attempt to make port in Manila.

More than twenty tons of foodstuffs have been taken aboard the vessels within recent days and a

Scot, Immigrant To U. S. In 1880, New Head Of Marshall Field's

Exclusive Dispatch to THE CHINA PRESS

Chicago, Jan. 4.—Two self made men today reached the pinnacles of success in the world of American business by being elected presidents of their respective companies. They are Mr. Fedson White (mentioned yesterday) who went to work in Armour's Peoria Packing House in 1895, and Mr. James Simpson, who took a position as office boy for Marsmall field and Company in 1891 and became its leading executive today at the age of forty-eight years.

Mr. Simpson's rise to fame and fortune reads like one of the old Henty stories. Born in Glasgow, Scotland, on January 26, 1874 he was brought to the United States in 1880 by his parents. He attended various public schools and business colleges and began as clerk in the cashier's office of Marshall Field's in 1891.

The following year he became a confidential clerk in Mr. Field's private office and sixteen years later was appointed 2nd vice president and assistant to the president upon Mr. Field's death.

In 1917 he was elected first vice president and yesterday reached the top of the ladder of success by being elected President of the largest wholesale and retail establishment in the world.

LYCEUM THEATER REMODELLED; TO OPEN ON JAN. 24

Popular Playhouse Thoroughly Rebuilt; New Steel Curtain Installed

Wednesday evening, January 24, is set for the formal opening of the remodelled Lyceum Theater. Extensive alterations have been completed since last April, when Shanghai's most popular playhouse was closed by order of the Municipal Council as being unsafe.

Since that time several corps of carpenters, electrical engineers, interior decorators and stage smiths have entirely remodelled the famous playhouse so that it now is not only the safest but also the most beautiful theater in the city.

Under instructions from Municipal Council architects a new concrete staircase has been built up to the old gallery, special emergency exits and concrete stairways have been placed in other parts of the house, and most important of all a steel fire curtain imported from England, and manufactured by Frank Burkitt, now completely cuts off the stage from the auditorium.

This curtain, which was imported by Trollop and Colls, weighs approximately two and one half tons and is fitted in front with an attractive asbestos covering. In the event that a fire should occur on the stage this fireproof shield can be immediately lowered by an automatic device and the only openings in the auditorium are also completely shut off by automatic fire doors. It was necessary to rebuild the old proscenium arch and raise it above the roof level before the curtain could be fitted into place.

The cold blasts of air which so frequently entered the theater through the main entrance doors have been stopped by the glassing in of the open verandah on Museum Road, thus converting it into a warm vestibule. The decorations of the vestibule were executed by Messrs. Tankai and Co. and adds greatly to the appearance of the theater.

A new cloak room with box compartments for coats and hats is provided near the right hand entrance to the auditorium.

New oak marquetry composes the flooring of the inner hall while

London Editors Alarmed, Grave Events Predicted

(Reuter's Service)

London, Jan. 5.—Deep grief and anxiety are evoked over the breakdown in Paris, tempered with a feeling of relief at the fact that at least we know where we stand.

It is expected that the Cabinet will meet on Mr. Bonar Law's return today, when it is believed that the question of the withdrawal of Sir John Bradbury from the Reparations Commission will be considered.

France's next move is anticipated with the greatest uneasiness. All the editorial articles this morning are couched in a friendly tone toward France but it is generally unequivocally recognised that England must completely dissociate herself from the forcible action which France apparently contemplates and acute apprehension is manifest regarding the consequences of such an isolated move for France and the whole of Europe.

It is pointed out that the British offer as regards the remission of debts necessarily falls to the ground.

The whole fabric of peace is in grave danger, declares the Times, referring to what it terms the reckless adventure contemplated by France. The paper says that we are deeply concerned in the risks France has undertaken. British friendship, through France's own action, must perforce remain inactive in the perilous hours now at hand. The journal is of opinion that a situation has been created in which the recovery of adequate reparations is extremely doubtful. In conclusion, it states that France is venturing alone among enemies.

The Daily Telegraph consoles itself with the belief that only good can come from getting down to plain political facts and fundamentals. It emphasises that there is no thought of a rupture. The paper thinks that the United States may take diplomatic action.

The Daily News is of the opinion that M. Poincare's contemplated action will be an irrevocable step towards ending the Entente and provoking the undying hatred of the German people. The British Government must seriously consider, when the die is cast, whether the British troops shall remain on the Rhine.

The Westminster Gazette terms the rupture a disaster of the policy outlined for France, which must drive Britain increasingly to detachment from the concerns of the Continent.

The Daily Chronicle says that in spite of the absence of a breach only a semblance of the old reality of the Entente remains.

The Daily Graphic declares that nothing must be done to make the Anglo French rift greater.

The Morning Post and the Daily Mail alone criticise Mr. Bonar Law.

Paris, Jan. 4, 11:40 p.m.—Since the Conference in London M. Poincare and Mr. Bonar Law had realised the virtual impossibility of reaching an agreement. Nevertheless that did not prevent them from doing their utmost to secure an agreement at the Paris Conference. Mr. Bonar Law stated that M. Poincare had brought the issue to a point by expressing his opinion that nothing could be gained and possibly something important might be lost by further attempts at a compromise in the reality of which no one would believe.

M. Poincare stated that there was a ditch between France and Britain. Not only the views of the French delegation but the views of the French people made a bridge impossible and the only chance of agreement lay in being able to find a way from one side of the ditch to the other. M. Poincare defined the ditch as follows: "Is there to be a moratorium with pledges or without pledges?"

Mr. Bonar Law said that he was unable to accept the distinction in that form. He insisted that the difference was simply whether the steps to be taken would or would not prevent the recovery of German credit—whether it was better to seize whatever was within reach or to consider whether what was seized would prevent the recovery of German credit, in which lay the hope of obtaining a larger sum.

German Minister In Bitter Mood

(Reuter's Service)

London, Jan. 5.—In view of the crisis a significant statement has been made by the German Finance Minister, who, in the course of an interview in Berlin, declared: "We cannot be expected to commit suicide in paying and we won't. I warn the world that this nation though weak and weary will not accept another slap on the face. If such a slap comes then the fury that will seize a tortured people and break the borders of restraint will get beyond the control of any Government."

Removal Of Gold Angered French

(Reuter's Service)

London, Jan. 4.—One of the things which angered the French most today is the revelation that the £40,000,000 in gold on behalf of France and the £16,000,000 on behalf of Italy deposited in the Bank of England during the war has been sent to the United States to purchase war material for the Allies.

The papers in Paris declare that France is thus deprived of the most valuable deposit, safeguarding French credit.

A French semi-official statement explains that the gold was deposited as security for an advance of £150,000,000 and was to be restored three years after the war at the same time as the repayment of the advance was effected.

A financial authority is quoted in London today as stating that the British Government, merely as a bookkeeping transaction, paid the French interest on this gold. This was construed as carrying the liberty to use the money as was thought fit instead of its lying idle during the financial stress. It is pointed out that neither France nor Italy have paid the interest on their debts to Britain.

Official circles declare that Britain is highly justified in her action and has a set-off both on the interest and the capital in the amounts owed her by France and Italy have paid the interest on buying the gold again to re-deposit it in London.

Parleys Friendly, Says Premier Law

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Jan. 4. (9.10 p.m.)—In a statement after the Conference, Mr. Bonar Law explained that the discussions had been throughout most friendly. Both he and M. Poincare had concluded that there was a vital difference of opinion between them and it was obvious that there was nothing to be gained by long discussions and arguments.

Mr. Law's concluding statement at the Conference declared that after earnestly considering the French proposals, His Majesty's Government was of the definite opinion that, if carried into effect, the proposals would not only fail to attain the desired results, but were likely to have a grave and even disastrous effect on the economic situation of Europe, and therefore was unable to participate therein or to accept responsibility for them.

His Majesty's Government at the same time assured the French Government that, while extremely regretting the irreconcilable difference of view on such a serious subject, the feeling of friendship of the British Goverament and people towards the French Government and people remained unchanged.

M. Poincare replied that the French Government had examined most attentively the British proposals and the longer they examined them the more they were obliged to recognise that the proposals would involve a considerable reduction in the debts owing to France and would overthrow the Treaty of Versailles, and it was impossible to accept such a solution. He added that the Government of the Republic deeply regretted their inability to agree with Great Britain on this serious question but thanked the British Government for their friendly statement and assured them, notwithstanding difference of opinion, that the sentiments of the French Goverament and nation towards Britain would remain unchangingly cordial.

Paris, Jan. 4 (10:25 p.m.)—It is stated in French circles that tomorrow's conversations between France, Italy and Belgium will be purely courtesy interviews and in no way a continuance of the Conference, which is definitely closed.

Chopin-Concert Tonight

BY GERALD ZALSMAN

For those interested in the Chopin program to be given by Leopold Godowsky at Town Hall tonight, it is interesting to recall the fact that after the early years of the 19th Century the sonata occupies a smaller space in the domain of music. In Chopin, the characteristic qualities of modern music in the treatment of ideas are found abundantly, and in these his genuine qualities are most clearly displayed.

His sonatas are not so successful as, for instance, his ballads, but the Sonata in B. Flat Minor is the best. The first movement is clearly disposed, the scherzo is lively, the slow movement in the very well known Funeral March and the last movement is a short but characteristic outbreak of whirling notes free and original in point of form. The total effect of this sonata is entirely different from that of the earlier types.

As to the six preludes there may be said that each is complete in itself and not intended as an introduction to something else. There are among them the most characteristic of Chopin's compositions and probably suggested by his visit to Majorca.

The Etudes are not alone pieces contrived to aid the student in mastering technical difficulties but, above all, are full of musical and poetical sentiment.

The Mazurka is a national Polish dance and Chopin treated the dance in a new and characteristic manner. He entered the spirit of its original form, eliminated all vulgarity and introduced all sorts of Polish airs.

The same may be said of the Polonaise, which is characterised by strong rhythm but is of little interest as a dance and is like his waltzes more in the sphere of absolute music and not intended as an accompaniment to dancing. We also find on the program two of the most lovely Nocturnes and a Barcuse.

MISS DOUGLASS IS SPEAKER AT WOMAN'S CLUB

China's Art Outgrowth Of National Cultural Development, She Says

The Literary Department of the American Woman's Club held its regular meeting yesterday afternoon at the Hall of the Royal Asiatic society, when Miss Lucille Douglass read a paper on "The Development of Chinese Art." Before the reading of the paper a short business session was held, after which Mrs. W. W. Bartlett introduced Miss Tharle-Hughes, an English painter, and Mrs. Helen Churchill Candee, well known art critic from Washington, D.C. Mrs. Candee made a special plea for the preservation of China's historic buildings many of which are rapidly falling into decay.

In approaching her subject, Miss Douglass took, not the accepted theory that Chinese art was at a rudimentary stage, in early ages, out of which it was lifted by the Buddhistic influx, but the view that the art of China is the outgrowth of strong national cultural development, which has absorbed, rather than been influenced by the various civilisations and philosophies, with which it has come in contact. The strongest factor in this development has been the Chinese artist's attitude toward nature, regarding it with an understanding and sympathy, not displayed by any other nation. In their paintings, always the spiritual side of nature is depicted, never the material, and the artist strives to express the mood induced by the subject.

"The channels of art were widened by conquest and commerce, and the Greco-Bactrian influence came in, together with the Buddhistic art from India, both of which gave much to the Chinese, the teachings of Confucius, and Lao Tzu, but none of these can be said in itself to have been the vital force that gave the impetus toward that fine flower of maturity reached in the T'ang dynasty. It was the slow growth of that inner consciousness, which has made China so individual in all her artistic achievements.

"While the Indian element is strong, the Chinese element always prevails, even in the picture of a Buddhist Paradise, for the achitecture, personages, costumes and accessories are Chinese, which in itself testifies to the powerful vitality of Chinese art, for if it could resist the psychological influences of the mystical religious feeling, then it was indeed an intense individuality."

He respectfully congratulated his Lordship on that dignity, and following such excellent examples.

Sir Skinner Turner, in acknowledging the speeches of congratulation, said he most sincerely and most warmly thanked them for what had been said that morning. He thanked them all for their attendance which showed that they joined with the Crown Advocate and Mr. Browett in what had been said. For his part he preferred to regard the honor which His Majesty has been graciously pleased to confer on him as a tribute to the administration of justice in that Court. To that all of them contributed, they who practised at the Bar before him and the staff of the Court who were supporting him at the same time.

Without loyal and constant cooperation between the Bench and the Bar, he said, between the Bench and the staff of the Court and the Bar and the staff of the Court, the administration of justice which has been carried on in His Majesty's Supreme Court in China could not have been maintained in the past and cannot be maintained in the future. That support and cooperation—speaking for himself—he had always found, and he wished to take that opportunity of thanking all the members of the Bar, those who by courtesy practised there, and the staff of the Court for the assistance which he had always had in the administration of justice in that Court.

As to the honor which His Majesty had been graciously pleased to give him, he trusted they would all look upon it as an honor which was shared by them all, and that he was merely a figurehead. At the same time he wished personally to thank them for the words which they had said and for coming there that day to support the Crown Advocate and Mr. Browett. His Lordship added, "I thank you most deeply."

DON'T STOP HALF WAY

There are two chief kinds of accounts you can carry at a bank—checking and savings.

The former, also called a current account, is as this name indicates chiefly used to handle your regular income and outgo—your day-to-day working funds.

The latter should constitute your reserve—money to be used only in case of sudden need or to take advantage of an unexpected opportunity. It should represent the margin by which your earnings exceed your expenses and should increase regularly.

Don't stop with half way measures and have only one account—go all the way and carry both kinds.

START THE NEW YEAR RIGHT

THERE is no better way to start the New Year right than by taking out a life insurance policy. This is something that must be not merely a good resolution, but must be materialized without delay.

THE old year has probably increased your responsibility to your dependents, but it has decreased your insurability. Every year that passes works the same change.

INSURANCE on your life is cheaper today than it will be a year hence, and it is sound business sense to get it now. You can face the world with a happy heart in the confidence that you have made provision for your dependents through a life insurance policy in a sound company.

Messrs. Wu Yu-lin and Liu En-yuan are still at Tientsin and Tsinanfu respectively. Last night the Premier sent his aide-de-camp, General Chu Pan-tsao, to invite the two Ministers to Peking and it is expected that both will arrive so as to be ready to assume their posts by Monday.

Dr. C. T. Wang announces that the mandate appointing him Minister of Justice was issued without his consent. He informed the President this morning that under no circumstances would he accept the portfolio.

Lawyer Struck Off Roll In British Court

The name of William Stafford Levinson, a barrister who formerly practiced in the British courts here, was struck off the roll of the Court yesterday by Sir Skinner Turner, the Chief Judge, upon motion of Mr. H. P. Wilkinson, the Crown Advocate.

Mr. Wilkinson explained that six months had elapsed since Sir Skinner Turner had issued an order requiring Mr. Levinson to appear and show cause why his name should not be struck off the roll. Mr. A. M. Preston had made every effort to locate Mr. Levinson since he left Shanghai for Japan, Mr. Wilkinson said, without success, but Mrs. Levinson had been notified and he had reason to believe Mr. Levinson knew of the order.

Russ Refugees To Sail Today

large supply of coal put in their bunkers. Yesterday 1,000 tons more of coal and 20,000 pounds of flour were put aboard. The vessels are said to be well stocked with coal and foodstuffs through the generosity of the various relief organisations and individuals in Shanghai who took an interest in their pitiable cause, and Chinese organisations who raised over $20,000 as a relief fund for them.

HERE TWO WEEKS

The fifteen vessels sailed away from Vladivostok just before the Japanese forces evacuated the city and the Reds took possession as they were fearful that, being remnants of the old Imperial forces and White Guards, they would be executed by the Reds. They attempted to land at Gensan and Fusan, Korea, but were unable to land because of the thousands of Russian refugees already there.

Receiving information that they would be no more welcome in Japan than they were in Korea the portless fleet headed for Woosung, where they were denied permission to land by the Chinese authorities. Negotiations were at once opened with Peking, through Commissioner for Russian Affairs V. Grosse, but the Peking government refused to over-ride General Ho Fen-ling, Military Governor of Sungkiang and Shanghai, and the refugees were forced to stay aboard their vessels off the Woosung breakwater.

Some of the refugees have drifted ashore despite the orders and are scattered about Shanghai, a few having secured jobs. Approximately 200 boys, sons of Russian officers and men killed in the war, most of them while in service against the Germans in the early days of the war, have also been landed and are now quartered at 16 Jessfield Road and 4 Sinza Road, where they are being cared for by a Russian relief committee. It is said that Admiral Stark refused to transport the orphans any farther and efforts are now under way to take care of the boys here until provision has been made to send them on to Russian schools in Servia. A few have been temporarily 'adopted' by Shanghai families.

WHO PAYS BILL?

During the stay of the vessels at Woosung Admiral Stark declared that regardless of orders by the Chinese to move on it would be impossible for the portless flotilla to sail until five of the ships had been overhauled in drydock. After negotiations carried on by Mr. Grosse five of the ships were put in drydock here and needed repairs made. According to the Chinese press the Russians did not have funds to pay the repair charges and Mr. Hsu Yuen, Commissioner for Foreign Affairs, is now negotiating for the payment of the bill.

During Christmas and New Year's a number of contributions were made to the refugees. On New Year's day a tender filled with presents and New Year's cheer was sent to Woosung by relief organisations.

Just before Christmas the Soviet in an official telegram which was transmitted to Admiral Stark by Soviet officials here, offered the grant amnesty to all the refugees and the sailors on the ships if they would return to Russian waters before the first of the year and turn the ships back to the Soviet. The offer was refused by the refugees after a meeting on board the ships.

Haig & Haig
A LITTLE AND GOOD
MOTTO
On the principle that "a little and good" is better for you, you can be gently stimulated by the use of Haig & Haig at no increased cost.

Suspicion

Amongst the innumerable evils that have come in the wake of America's pretence of going "dry," one that must be noted is the growth of suspicion.

So much fraud has followed America's futile effort that honest American (and other) people are made suspicious when there is no ground.

Here is an amusing example:

The hideous trade in substitutes for good honest alcoholic drinks is demoralising thousands and making them suspect anything that has the least appearance of fraud or that they do not understand. Super-criticalness has become an obsession.

Recently Americans, Canadians, Mexicans and others living in or adjacent to dry (?) America have found a mare's nest in the mould marks on the bottom of whisky bottles.

They actually persuaded themselves that clever rogues were cutting a large round hole out of these bottles, removing the contents, substituting something inferior, and putting back the "cut-out" as neatly as a clever dentist replaces a tooth that he has removed.

The thing is, of course, commercially impossible. It will be a loss to the world if America loses, besides its freedom, its sense of humour.

ARMENIAN GIVEN TWO MONTHS FOR POCKET PICKING

A. Handjien, Armenian, charged with theft of Yen 300 from K. Yamanot of the Bank of Taiwan in the Japanese post office on Dec. 27 yesterday was sentenced to two months' imprisonment and to be deported thereafter to Vladivostok.

The case was heard by Assessor Ivanoff and Magistrate Tsang and testimony for the prosecution was given by Detective Sergeant Schmidt, the complainant and the Chinese constable who made the arrest. Mr. Yamanot said that he had just drawn the Yen 300 and had placed it in his hip pocket. There was a crowd in the post office and he felt the money being removed from his pocket. Turning round he saw the accused taking the notes. Another foreigner was with the accused and this man escaped, presumably with the money, for it was not found on the prisoner.

Handjien denied the theft and said that he had only arrived in Shanghai that morning. He had been looking for his wife, who lived somewhere on Seward Road, and had come into the post office to mail a letter to a man in Dairen. He admitted having been fined $100 on a previous occasion in connection with a matter of passports.

Detective Sergeant Schmidt turned over to the Court documents from the Tientsin police and Bureau of Foreign Affairs showing Handjien to be a member of a gang of pickpockets and an undesirable character.

'Constits' Of Solons To Get Free Seeds

Exclusive Dispatch to THE CHINA PRESS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 5.—The House of Representatives today considered the annual Agricultural appropriation bill amounting to $468,981,552 but instead of passing it sent it back to committee with the recommendation that an additional item amounting to $460,000 be included to pay for the free seeds distributed by Congressmen to their constituents.

The interior appropriation bill calling for an expenditure of $284,000,000 was passed after a short debate.

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and Postmaster General Work made a joint report to Congress advocating the purchase of grounds and buildings in 1,200 cities for Federal purposes. Instead of spending approximately $20,000,000 yearly in rental for suitable premises, the report states that the building sites might be purchased for twice that sum.

Deny Petition Made For Chinese Russian

An application made on behalf of Fiodor Tsoi, alias Cha Chi-wai, Chinese of Russian citizenship who was recently sentenced to three months' imprisonment for shoplifting, was refused by Assessor Ivanoff and Magistrate Tsang at the Mixed Court yesterday.

Tsoi was convicted of stealing a roll of silk from the shop of P. B. Shiroff, 1 North Soochow Road on December 18. He was found living with his Russian wife in Frenchtown and was brought before the Mixed Court, where he denied the charge but was convicted by Assessor King and Magistrate Loh. The application yesterday was made by Mr. A. Fishman, who explained to the Court that while he was not making a reduction of sentence he wished to have the Court date the term from the day of arrest. Chief Inspector Wheeler stated to the Court that the application was in the usual form for reduction of sentence, and the petition was therefore vague.

The Court held that the sentence imposed was a light one and denied the application.

WARN WATCHMEN

All watchmen are to be warned of the danger from charcoal gases as a result of an accident yesterday in which a watchman on the Kinsler Road property of the Shanghai Investment Company was found unconscious from charcoal gas. He was taken to the Red Cross Hospital and will recover.

New York Governor Asks Dry Reliever

Exclusive Dispatch to THE CHINA PRESS

Washington, D.C. Jan. 4.—Agitation for legislation permitting the sale of light wines and beers appears to be growing throughout the country. Alfred E. Smith, recently elected Governor of New York, in his inaugural address emphatically urged the passage of a resolution by the New York legislature favoring light wines and beers of greater strength than one half of one percent.

Ex-Attorney General George W. Wickersham in a brief today submitted to the Supreme Court of the United States contended that if liquor discovered on vessels of foreign registry in American waters was confiscated in compliance with Attorney General Daugherty's ruling the next step would be to deprive members of the foreign diplomatic corps from drinking their national beverages.

Mr. Wickersham, who is a member of the New York law firm of Cadwalder, Wickersham and Taft, has been retained by the association of foreign shipowners to combat Attorney General Daugherty's ruling relating to the legality of seizure of all wines and liquors on vessels in American waters.

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Jan. 5.—At the opening hearing yesterday of prohibition cases as affecting steamship companies, Mr. Wickersham, counsel for the foreign shipping lines, cited a Treasury circular issued in December in support of his contention that sea-stores and ship's-equipment were identical.

BEARCATS WIN, 36-18; TIE FOR LEAD

Sensational Rally In Second Half Beats Stripes

Irle Also Helps To Take Sixth Game In Succession

LEAGUE STANDING	W.	L.	Pct.
Bearcats	6	1	.857

BY TOMMY GRAFTON

Kenny Irle's Bearcats staged a sensational rally in the second half of last night's game with the Stripes at the Rowing Club and trimmed the cellar team by a score of 36 to 18. By virtue of their win the Bearcats went into a tie with the Blues for first position in the Foreign League.

The game was a thriller in the first half, the Stripes starting off with a bang, and leading for ten minutes, enjoying a two-point lead for some time which Irle's stars seemed unable to overcome. Ross was the big gun for the Rowing Club five, caging four goals in beautiful form from under the basket.

The Bearcats fumbled the ball to a great extent, and they seemed unable to raise the scoring with the Stripes on top of them and playing fast basketball every minute, and it was not until Kenny had changed his line-up and placed Roxburgh at forward that the team found itself, and passed their opponents.

A couple of pretty shots by "Doc" added to three baskets from Doc Gray put the Bearcats into a lead which they were not slow in swelling, although the whistle halted the march, with the count 16 to 12, at half-time, and it seemed that a great fight was evident.

DOC COMES THROUGH

The Stripes were undoubtedly in good trim, and might have had a chance, had not Doc Gray come back like a thunder clap and eased seven goals into the net, which destroyed the hopes of the Stripes, and decreed that the Cats should cop their sixth straight game, and go into a tie for first place.

Irle and Gray played classy ball for the winners, scoring many goals with fast floor-work, and overwhelming the Rowing Clubbers in a swift attack. Roxburgh was not up to his usual form, and only scored three baskets, although he was given many easy opportunities.

For the losers, Barnes and Ross played well, and gave the Bearcats a good fight in the first half, but the Stripes played together poorly as a whole, and did not show the combination of Kenny Irle's men.

The summary is as follows:

Bearcats 36		Stripes 18
Gray	lf	Smith
Roxburgh	rf	Ross
Elliott	c	Barnes
Pollock	lg	Wilhelmi
Irle	rg	Johnston
Mcgowan	lg

Goals from floor: Gray 10, Roxburgh 3, Elliott 4, Irle, Ross 4, Barnes 3, Johnston 2. Referee: Nash. Timekeeper: Hirsh. Scorer: Grafton.

PUBLIC SCHOOL IS WINNER FROM ST. IGNATIUS TEAM

A match between the Public School and St. Ignatius' College was played Thursday afternoon on the College ground, resulting in a victory for the visitors, 3-1. The School boys were unable to get together the full Inter-School League senior team and so two substitutes were found.

All the goals were scored in the first period. Jacob, taking advantage of a miss by the right fullback netted the ball nicely. A little later at short range, he again tallied by rushing between the backs who were slow to clear. The School's last point followed a pass from Madar to Jacob. Madar throughout played a brilliant game.

The College boys scored just a few minutes before the rest period. The right wing passed over to the inside left, whose shot from a queer position surprised the goalkeeper by grazing the crossbar into the corner of the net.

The second period saw the Public School do the heavy part of the attacking, but the College defense was always found in position to clear at the critical moments and the goalkeeper saved several dangerous shots. The School backs usually kept the College forwards out of the danger zone.

St. Ignatius' College may lay claim to having one of the best teams of the middle school class in Shanghai, as it has known no defeat with teams of this class, winning against:

Nieh Chih-kuei Public School 2-1 and 1-0.
Shanghai Normal School 3-0.
St. Francis Xavier's Chinese team 4-0 and 5-0.
Medhurst College 4-1.
China Merchants' School 9-0.

Other teams were set in friendly matches, the College boys being on the long end against the French cruiser "Colmar" 4-0, the Italian gunboat "Caboto" 2-1, the Thomas Hanbury School 5-0, Aurora University 4-0; drawing with Nanyang Second Team 1-1 and being beaten by the Navy Second League Team 3-1 and 5-2.

M. C. C. TEAM WINS TEST MATCH BY ONE WICKET

(Reuter's Service)

Capetown, Jan. 4.—England beat South Africa in the Second Test match by one wicket, scoring 173 for 9 in their second innings.

Play was resumed today in brilliant weather before an attendance of 2,000. The wicket was perfect.

Mann and Jupp made a gallant stand with 45 and 38 respectively, putting on 68 runs for the 7th wicket. Brown was then run out for a duck. The crowd was very excited when Kennedy and Macaulay came together for the last wicket with 5 runs needed for victory.

Kennedy hit a boundary, bringing the scores level. The fieldsmen then closed in in a last desperate effort to stop the winning run but, after being completely beaten by the second ball, Macaulay got the third away. The match finished at 2.30 amidst long and hearty cheers for the victors.

Seijiro Tatsumi, Japanese tenor on a tour of the world; Miss Ray, classical dancer, and Miss Potoska, soprano, will all entertain at the new Carlton beginning tonight.

Manager Ellis announces. He is to sing Buhn's "Invictus," Meyerbeer's "O Paradia," "Leoncavallo's Mattinata!" and one other number tonight. He will also appear tomorrow, Monday and Tuesday.

Only the big ball room will be open after dinner tonight as the St. George's Society "Twelfth Night" fancy dress is to be held in the dining room.

Pick Recs And Club To Win Today

absence of wind is the most needed factor.

With their advertised team, the Recs should not experience much difficulty in taking the points from St. Xavier's but not without some hard play, though their defense will probably hold the school forwards safely.

The Club and Police game will be a hard, fast tussle and the advantage should lie with the Club, but after their forward exhibition against St. Xavier's, one hesitates to put too much confidence in them; it very largely depends if Coulcher turns out or not.

In the Engineers vs. Public School, the former look to me like winners, though Hans at back is a new name, but Crawford and Knight at half are good enough to spoil the school combination and with Wilson in the forward line, they look good enough to me, despite the school's previous draw with the Recs.

The lineups follow:

An ordinary unadapted Army machine was used, carrying an additional weight of 200 kilos.

Weekly Review Of Shanghai Markets

BY DAVID ARAKIE
(Financial Editor)

Holiday dullness has permeated some of the local markets. To call the week's trade very poor seems the only happy medium between the almost unprintable opinion which some merchants hold and the chaste and decorous "quiet" of others. Here and there, there is an occasional ray of sunshine and a few trades report a fair amount of business.

While prices of most of the China products are still not low in comparison with prices ruling in the consuming markets they seem a bit higher for certain products, and a somewhat peculiar situation is being created. There is perceptible in certain directions of concessions in prices, and buyers abroad are inclined to pay a little more and get the stuff or be compelled to pay much more as values on the Shanghai market for North China products show no inclination to glide backwards.

Supplies are being assimilated by the buyers, and a great portion of the supplies coming in are passing to the consumers. There seems to be a persistent call for sesamum seeds from Hamburg, and indications are that supplies will be very scanty in the near future as the season is believed to have ended rather prematurely this time. Shanghai and Hankow have between themselves shipped so far 20,000 tons of sesamum seeds.

Although generally all the markets are dull, the vegetable oil market forms an exception and with the steady decrease of surplus stocks the prices are rising. The United States have been interested in edible oils, and there is a better desire to operate in Shanghai.

An interesting item of news conveyed in this article is the fact that the large buying of rice by Chekiang interests during the past three months is merely speculative. These gamblers in a food commodity have pictured out the whole thing in their mind's eyes. The rice crop in the Chekiang Province is stated to be some 30 percent of normal, and at the present rate of consumption the supplies should be completely exhausted by the end of February or the latest the middle of March. All the large buying of rice that has and is going on is with the view of selling just after the Chekiang rice stocks give out, so that the holders who have stored their imported rice will be able to command big prices. Already these food gamblers have made some twenty percent on their purchases, for prices have risen that amount since they commenced buying. An acute situation is likely to arise in March should the speculators be allowed to exploit the poor for this staple product. It is hoped that in the event of this eventuality arising, the Chinese Government would introduce stringent measures against hoarding and artificial price levels.

France has been making purchases in the local raw silk market. The monotony is at last broken. If exchange remains steady there is every reason to expect a continued trade.

COTTON YARN DROPS

Cotton yarn prices have suffered a slight setback, which, let us hope, is merely temporary. The action of the Japanese speculators in selling their yarn forward has put this damper on the market. The big centers did not make any purchases this week. The feeling notwithstanding is healthy, and a better and prosperous time is looked forward to.

During the week was received from the Pacific ports some 2,000 tons of American flour and 2,000 tons of American wheat. The only fresh business during the period under review was a transaction for 2,500 tons of American flour. American flour prices are now being accepted by the Chinese buyers in a good spirit but there is nothing doing in wheat as values are considered high. It is interesting to read in the American papers that the Shanghai market has been a salvation to the American wheat and flour sellers in view of the dearth of important sales to any other markets.

There was good bidding at the piece goods auctions this week, the demand being particularly strong for white shirtings.

PRODUCE MARKET

Certain sections of the produce market here still continue to be firm, but arrivals, on the whole, are growing less.

The position as regards rapeseeds is still the same, there being no stocks and consequently no business recorded. The rate was advanced to Tls. 6.10 per picul. Japan and Europe have been inquiring for this product. Stocks of rapeseeds in Japan are reported to be very small, the rate there having advanced to about the level of the Shanghai market.

Stocks of cottonseeds are scarce as the ginning mills are not operating to full capacity. It is stated that they will stop work after the Chinese New Year. In Shanghai there are four or five ginning mills, belonging to the Chinese and Japanese.

The Shanghai quotation for sesamum seeds has advanced further, the present rate being Tls. 7.40 per picul. There are very few sellers at this price. Some business was done last Saturday to the extent of about 500 tons at the price of Tls. 7.30 per picul. It is stated that this quantity was sold to Hamburg, but in some quarters it is reported that this was short covering on the part of those speculators who had sold previously and were forced to make the purchase.

Recent quotations from Hamburg and Rotterdan indicate that the market is steady. They can buy at prices ranging between £21.5 and £21.10 per ton, whereas the local rate works out to £22 per ton.

It is feared that the end of the sesamum seeds season is drawing to a close, for stocks are and arrivals falling off. At the beginning of the season the Chinese ing to a close, for stocks are and was a good one, but it now transpires that the condition of the yield is below expectation. Present stocks of sesamum seeds in Shanghai average about 500 tons. The market is likely to go up higher.

It is estimated that up to the present moment, from time that the crop came on the market in October last some 20,000 to 30,000 tons have been exported from Shanghai and Hankow. The sesamum season unusually winds up sometime in March, but it is feared that the poorness of the crop and the good demand that has existed since the product was marketed will bring to an end this season this month.

SOYA BEANS

The market for soya beans is very firm in Shanghai in sympathy with the Dairen market. In Dairen the speculators have been operating on a large scale as they anticipate a big rise before the Chinese New Year as the crop is not good and arrivals will therefore be small, compared with last year. The present quotation is about Tls. 3.80 per picul for cargo on the spot and Tls. 3.90 for February shipment and Tls. 4.00 for March-April shipment. Stocks are sufficient for local needs.

No business was done this week in soya beans for export, and all the buying is limited to local mills, who are taking about 300 to 400 tons every day.

Due to the recent political disturbances in Vladivostok all the Manchurian products are being shipped from Dairen. The bean cake mills have increased their capacity to 90,000 pieces a day, while the shipment of beans and bean cakes from the interior have also increased. It is estimated that the Dairen trade in beans and bean cakes will reach a high figure at the end of this month, as forty vessels are engaged and it is expected that many more will enter within the next couple of weeks. It is reported that a total of 20,000 tons has already been contracted for shipment for this month.

The market for peanuts is dull. Arrivals of peanuts from the interior have increased, and as the Cantonese have brought their purchases to a halt for the time being, the ruling quotation being Tls. 6.50 per picul. The European market is also dull, buyers there offering £19.10 for fair average quality peanuts, which works out to Tls. 6.20 per picul. Local stocks are some 700 to 800 tons.

Two Fresh Problems For China In 1923

STUDENTS of political science out here cannot be very optimistic about the situation in China for the coming year. In general, the prediction is that the Chinese riddle will remain unsolved.

Besides militarism, corrupted finance and a host of other old evils, there will be two new and vital problems. They are the promulgation of the permanent constitution and the election of the president.

Both issues are constructive and necessary steps towards the realisation of a genuine democracy in China; yet in actuality prospects for their execution are not bright and they seem bound to bring more chaos to the nation and grief to the people.

The essential elements in the organic law of the nation are order and freedom. The problem of order is to establish a central power or government efficient enough to eliminate anarchy and the problem of freedom is to restrict an oligarchy which threatens to overwhelm individual liberty.

For the past eleven years, in theory, the nation has been administered under the Provisional Constitution which was drawn up in Nanking, in 1911, and adopted in Peking in 1912 at a special convention held at the Temple of Heaven. The task of drawing up a constitution has been entrusted to a convention, delegated by Parliament and consisting of the leaders of the country.

The new constitution promises to be a combination of the best elements of the Constitutions of the Swiss, French and South American Republics. But the nation had not even lived up to the provisions of the Provisional Constitution. It is difficult for one to expect it to do better with the permanent one. The administrative organs of the nation have long lost the confidence of the people so they cannot receive the sympathetic support which is essential at a time when new laws are to be enforced.

China follows the French practice in the election of the president and the vice-president of the nation. The two houses of Parliament meet in joint session to cast the ballot. Instead of election by an absolute majority as in France, the Chinese law requires that three-fourths of the members present shall vote for the successful candidate, with a requisite quorum of two-thirds of the membership of Parliament.

Under ordinary circumstances, this arrangement might lead to many deadlocks but a further provision says that if, on the second ballot, no candidate succeeds in obtaining the requisite number of votes, the two names highest on the ballot shall be submitted to a third ballot, in which a bare majority will be sufficient.

The terms of the president and the vice-president are for five years and both may be re-elected. If the president is unable to function through conviction of crime, illness, death or absence end of the presidential term of office.

The election this year will prove another storm center of political dissension. The character and qualification or lack of qualification of the candidate, Tsao Kun; the term of office of the retiring president, Li Yuan-hung; the legal status of Parliament; the electors; the rivalry of Tsao's political opponents; the struggle of other candidates; scandals in connection with the presidential campaign—these are few of the perplexities which the nation will be called upon to face; and any deadlock in the course of the solution one of these riddles may mean the dislocation of the entire political machinery of the country.

In the light of present conditions, the difficulties created by personal ambition or by the rivalry between the provincial military authorities, all efforts to enforce the new Constitution and to elect a new president will be impeded through lack of a strong Central Government.

Meanwhile the day of unification seems just as distant as before, militarism thrives, brigandage is rife and more insolvent than ever!

Cartoonists In Japan

Nothing has in the recent years made so remarkable a progress as caricature in Japan. The development is indeed so decided that with the leading newspapers it constitutes an essential part of their daily issues, says the Japan Times. Cartoons made their first appearance in the Jiji, Kokumin and Asahi, and the striking success that attended such publications induced many other papers to follow the example. The happy consequence is that almost each of the leading papers and periodicals in this country has now one or more cartoonists in its employ, with quite a liberal space reserved in each issue for their activity, much to the satisfaction of general readers.

Caricature in Japan owes this significant development to the untiring and conscientious efforts of such senior caricaturists as Rakuten Kitasawa, of the Jiji, and Hyakusui Hirafuku, of the Kokumin. But by no means a less primary factor has been the persistent activity of the Tokio Caricaturists' Association.

The association was organised several years ago, and consists of some 20 most prominent Japanese cartoonists, who, in order to promote public interest in this particular realm of art, annually hold a caricaturistic festival in their own original way, at Takarazuka, Matsuye and Beppu and other parts of the country.

One of the shining stars of this Association is Ippei Okamoto, of the Asahi. He is a most respected authority on caricature and widely known to the general field of journalism and fine arts, not only in this country, but abroad, especially since his recent trip around the world.

One of the latest instances manifesting the rare genius with which Mr. Okamoto is endowed is the way in which he recently overcome a most embarrassing difficulty to which the unintelligibility of the foreign language subjected him at an American restaurant, by adroitly representing in caricature the dishes he wanted to order.

Most unfortunately the work of Mr. Okamoto, as painted by him, is scarcely within the reach of the general public. To their delight, however, chance is now offered by the Central Fine Arts Association in the form of a publication already made of a series of the pictures of the 53 towns and villages of the feudal days.

Mr. Okamoto is not only a famous caricaturist but is celebrated as a literateur, and is the author of several works that reflect much to his credit. In the hope of further internationalising his work, he is going to make a trip to France, leaving Japan next spring. A farewell dinner will be given shortly in his honor by a number of his fellow cartoonists and those who are interested in caricature.

Young Father: "What's baby crying for?"

Young Mother: "Because I told him he looked like you."

Mrs. Hanskeep—"What have you got today in the shape of rhubarb?"

Greengrocer—"Well, we've got some celery that's the nearest."

Mrs. Hay—"They have some china that has been in the family for years."

Mrs. Ball—"Indeed! Haven't they any servants?"

"Some people say," remarked the beautiful heiress, coldly, "that I have no heart."

"Oh, that doesn't matter," replied the poor but willing youth. "I'll give you mine."

St. Clair: "Do you know how much is your father worth?"

Agnes: "About two millions."

St. Clair: "Heavens! I love you

In The U. S. Court For China

The Chinese-American Bank of Commerce, plaintiff, versus the Globe and Rutgers Fire Insurance Company, defendant.

Cause No. 1835.

Civil No. 648.

Order filed January 5, 1923.

SYLLABUS

(By the Court)

1. Leading: Insurance. In an action on fire insurance policies an averment of "beneficial ownership" suffices; plaintiff need plead only an insurable interest.

2. ID.: "Other Insurance." Where the complaint sets out the total amount of the insurance a motion for "particulars of all other insurance" will not lie.

3 ID.: Evidence need not be pleaded nor is it the province of a motion for a bill of particulars to secure it.

4. ID.: The pleader need not anticipate defenses.

Messrs. Davies and Bryan by Mr. Bryan for the motion.

Messrs. Shoop and Chalaire by Mr. Chalaire, contra.

Lobingier, J.

This is an action on certain policies of insurance alleged to have been issued by defendant to plaintiff and copies of which are attached to the complaint. Defendant moves

" for an Order requiring the plaintiff to furnish to the defendant a Bill of Particulars as to the ownership of the goods alleged to have been insured under the policies of insurance. . . particulars of all other insurance, if any, and to produce, procure and give to the defendant all plans, specifications, books, vouchers, invoices, duplicates or copies thereof documents, proofs and information with respect to the claim and the origin and cause of the loss and the circumstances touching the amounts of the liability of the defendant."

As to the first requirement plaintiff, as we have seen, sets out copies of the policies which appear to have been issued to it and alleges that "at the times hereinafter mentioned plaintiff was the beneficial owner of" the insured property. As we have had occasion to say in another connection

"It is well established that an equitable (i.e. beneficial) interest in property is an insurable one." (1).

And it is sufficient if the complaint shows an insurable interest in plaintiff. (2) As was observed in one case where a motion similar to this was overruled

"We can conceive of no good reason why a plaintiff in such a case should be required to set out his title or interest in the property destroyed specifically and with great particularity." (3).

As to the call for "particulars of all other insurance" plaintiff's averment (par. 7) would seem to suffice that

"The total insurance contracted prior to the time of said fire on the merchandise described in paragraph 3 of this complaint was G. Y.160,000 maximum amount."

Unauthorised "other insurance" might constitute a defense but a pleader is not required to anticipate defenses. (4).

The remaining information sought by the motion seems to consist of evidence and it is a rule of this court that evidence need not be pleaded. (5). Nor, as is well set forth in plaintiff's brief, is it the purpose of a motion of this kind to secure evidence. (6). The requirement in the policies that the insured shall furnish such information is not a requirement that it be embodied into the form of a pleading and if such were the requirement it could not bind the courts. If plaintiff has failed to comply with the requirements of the policies in this respect such failure is a matter of defense to be pleaded in the answer.

On the whole we are of the opinion that the complaint is not open to the objections urged. The motion is accordingly overruled and defendant is given ten days from this date to answer.

By the Court,
CHARLES S. LOBINGIER,
Judge.

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is particularly a preparation for Infants and Children made agreeable to the taste, acceptable to the stomach and pleasant in its action. It has been in use for over thirty years and has always been one of the most highly esteemed of all cathartic preparations. It has one great advantage over other preparations of its kind in that while it opens the organs readily and completely, it does not have a tendency to produce subsequent constipation so much to be dreaded.

It was only after years of research in the fields of herbs and roots for a combination of purely vegetable matter that would have all the virtues of Castor Oil, without its disagreeable, nauseating properties, especially when used for infants or children, that the formula used in Fletcher's Castoria was found, and which for over 30 years has proven its worth. Try it.

Save the Babies.

Infantry mortality is something frightful. We can hardly realise that of all the children born in ivilised countries, twenty-two per cent., or nearly one quarter die before they reach one year, thirty seven per cent., or more than one-third, before they are five, and one half before they are fifteen! We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save many of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to congestion, sickness, death. To avoid any possibility of giving your child opiates, or narcotics of any kind, keep Fletcher's Castoria in the house, and Save the Babies.

Weekly Review Of Shanghai Markets

while arrivals average about 300 to 400 tons per day.

Peanut oil advanced during the week in sympathy with the market in Tsingtau, the rate yesterday being Tls. 13.80 per picul, exgodown Shanghai. Some exporters are attempting to negotiate at this price but there is very little prospect of any business being consummated as there is wide difference between the American and Shanghai prices. The American market is about G.$7.50 per 100 lbs., which works out to Tls. 13.80 fob. a difference of two taels.

No business has been done in peanut oil this week. The London market is about £2 per cwt, some one or two mace lower than the rate ruling in Shanghai, and recent cabled advices put the market as dull in Europe.

In sympathy with the high prices commanding at present for cottonseeds, the market in cottonseed cakes has been very firm this week. There is a good demand for these and a fair business has been done round about Tls. 2.70 per picul.

The market is better for bean cakes, a good business resulting for export to Swatow and Amoy at Tls. 1.40 per piece. Local stocks are fair. Rapeseed cakes are nominal at about Tls. 2.35 per piece.

WOOD OIL BKISK

Generally speaking wood oil business is a bit brisk at present from Hankow. Arrivals of the oil into Hankow have recently fallen off, and it has been difficult to make purchases. In sesamum seeds the arrivals are also smaller into Hankow on account of the Honan district which supplies Hankow having experienced heavy snow and transportation not being smooth from the interior to Honan.

The American market for China products is slightly better as the cotton oil market is higher. There has been very little business this week with the United States in produce, but some business was done in bean and peanut oils from Tsingtau and Dairen. Small quantities of peanuts shelled for edible purposes was done this week in Shanghai at G.$120 per cif Pacific Coast. American consumers are buying foreign oils at higher prices.

The arrivals of rice from Japan and elsewhere this week had fallen off. Some 25,000 bags of Saigon and Siam rice were consigned to Shanghai this week from Japanese ports and found ready buyers. This comprised partly contract cargo and partly cargo sent down to Shanghai to be sold to the highers bidders on the spot.

The demand for the cereal is still insistent and unsatisfied. It is expected that the demand will grow into very large dimensions in April as the stocks held up in the Chekiang Province by the agriculturists will be consumed by that time.

SPECULATORS BUY

It is worthy of mention that all the large purchasing of rice during the past two-and-a-half months in the Shanghai market on Chekiang Province account has been done by speculators who have sent the cereal down to that province to be stored there until the farmers' holdings of the indigenous stuff are sold and consumed. In other words, it would seem that something in the nature of a corner is being attempted. The greater part of the rice bought recently by Chekiang merchants are for storage while a small portion has been sold to consumers.

Chekiang merchants began to make their purchases from October last, and have taken so far something like 400,000 bags. prices have appreciated since then some 20 percent, and as they are expected to go higher quite a fortune will be made by these speculators if everything comes through alright.

The prices of Saigon and Rangoon Siam rice in the Japanese market are about the same as ruling in the producing markets. Prospects of doing a bigger business in rice are still great, but as has been pointed out this will set in sometime in March. There is some demand for rice from consumers in Shanghai, but Chekiang is certainly the largest buyers at the moment. Only small arrivals of the grain are expected from Japan in the near future and all future drawings will, it is presumed, be made on the markets that produce rice.

The market for Honan rice has improved and the quotation is $9.00 per one-and-a-half piculs. For Siam rice No. 1 the rate is about $9.70 to $9.80 per 1½ piculs, and for Saigon No. 2 about $8.80 per 1½ piculs. Arrivals from Honan have dropped off considerably. The large purchases of Rangoon rice will reach Rangoon next month and continue to arrive till March. A large transaction in Rangoon rice is on the tapis, and should be put through within the next few days.

The rice crop in the Chekiang province has been very poor this season. Some estimate that it was 30 percent of the usual crop, but we are inclined to believe that it was about fifty percent of same. It can safely be said that it is about the worst crop that large province has experienced. It was harvested at the beginning of October.

LOCAL FLOUR UP

Some 2,000 tons of American flour and equal quantity of American wheat reached us this week. The local flour market has been advancing, the rate on the Shanghai Flour Exchange today being about Tls. 2.15 per sack for this month's delivery. The flour mills are quoting at Tls. 2.22 for spot cargo.

Just after the New Year holidays some 2,500 tons of American flour were transacted at Tls. 2.08 per sack for January-February shipment, the buyers being Chinese.

American wheat is quoted at G.$46 per ton, equivalent to Tls 4.30 per picul. Buyer's idea is Tls. 4.30. No business has been done in imported wheat. Stocks of flour in Shanghai are estimated at about 200,000 sacks. For sometime to some it is felt that prices will be maintained. The immediate outlook, on the other hand, for imported wheat business is not encouraging.

Any improvement in business for Pacific flour for import depends largely on whether Pacific wheats fall to the world's wheat price basis. So far there is no tendency in that direction. The situation as to Pacific wheat supplies is abnormal for most of the wheat has left first hands and the balance of the crop is largely owned by dealers, speculators and the mills in the States.

IMPORTS HEAVY

The Seattle papers state that since the beginning of the crop year total shipments of Pacific flour to Shanghai and Hongkong and Tientsin run into a million barrels up till the end of October last. And this business has been the salvation of the milling industry on the Pacific Northwest in view of the dearth of important sales to any other markets. It is necessary to go back to pre-war days to find any such volume of flour coming to China.

Exports of flour from Seattle in October, according to the Merchants' Exchange, were: to China, 69,175 bbls; Hongkong, 23,258; Japan, 250; Philippines, 14,475; Honolulu, 5,480; United Kingdom, 5,590; Europe, 5,715; Bolivia, 1,550; Peru, 775; British Columbia, 635. Exports from Tacoma: to China, 66,650 bbls; Hongkong, 56,500; Philippines, 11,350; Japan, 5,000; Honolulu, 2,830; United Kingdom, 8,215; Norway, 840; Peru, 8,352; Bolivia, 3,250; Chile, 2,720.

There has been a revival of buying of silk by French consumers this week as a result of which prices jumped up after the New Year holidays some Tls. 30 per bale higher than at the close of the year.

Six hundred bales of yellow silk filature changed hands this week for France, while the United States manufacturers have purchased rereeled tsatlees of the best grade and tussah filature.

The Shanghai market closed very firm yesterday. Stocks are small and an improvemnt is expected in the spring. Exchange has been very firm for sterling, franc and gold dollars.

SILK EXPORT

Up till the end of last year Shanghai exported during the season, which commenced on June 1 last, 51,594 bales of silk, of which Europe took 24,239 bales, Asia 8,392 bales and the United States 18,963 bales.

The Yokohama silk market has not emerged from its holiday mood, but nevertheless a period of active buying is expected. Buyers in Europe of Japanese silk are engaged in preliminary negotiations over large business. Very few bulky transactions are reported from Japan. The waste silk market there is keeping pace with the raw silk market. Sellers are reluctant to give in an account of the short stock on hand.

Owing to the considerable increase of stocks in the hands of American weavers, American merchants have kept more or less aloof at the Yokohama market. Under the influence of unfavorable exchange rates, exports of silk from Japan to Europe have fallen off.

It has been a quiet week for cotton yarn and cotton. The price of cotton yarn, as a result of forward selling by the Japanese, dropped about two taels since our last report, while cotton is weak.

Arrivals of cotton are still small. Roughly speaking, some 5,000 piculs were consigned here from the producing districts this week.

The cotton market at the opening after the holiday was steady but it grew weak on Thursday, a decline of a tael per picul being registered. Tungchow cotton is quoted at Tls. 39 for spot and Tls. 38 for forward. Shensi at Tls. 39 for spot, Hankow at Tls. 36 and Shanghai at Tls. 37 per picul.

Japanese yarn is arriving in small quantities. Business in yarn this week was limited to some 2,000 to 3,000 bales, all the dealers except those from Szechuen, Tientsin and Canton making purchases. In other words the big buyers were not in the market.

The local mills have been buying Chinese cotton sparingly.

YARN QUOTATIONS

Latest quotations for yarn as follows: 16s. Tls. 138 to Tls. 148 per bale, 14s. from Tls. 140 to Tls. 144 per bale and 20s. from Tls. 152 to Tls. 161.

Sampin has been steady, the ruling quotations being yen 229.10 for this month, yen 232.50 for Feb., yen 236 for March, yen. 238.30 for April and 239.40 for May.

The American market is also steady at 26.45 for March, 26.60 May, 26.31 July and 26.45 for spot.

Prices of Indian cotton at Bombay are also steady, fine good Bengal being quoted at Rs. 353, fine Oomra at Rs. 433 and fine good Brooch at Rs. 486.

The growing depression in the Japanese business world has affected minor cotton mills in Japan which were floated at high cost during the days of prosperity and their position is almost untenable. Many of them are compelled to either sell out or combine with other small mills. News reaches Shanghai that a few Japanese mills have closed down their plants without resorting to either.

PIECE GOODS

There is a distinct better feeling in the piece goods trade. Prices at the Auctions were steady, a special feature being the demand for white shirtings, which have gone up a little in price.

There was a good trade demand especially from the North and near River ports. Manchester prices are steady with occasional lowering of prices slightly here and there.

Clearances have been better, but there has been very little indent business. Stocks in Shanghai are going down steadily. India and Manchuria are still in the market for Chinese sheetings.

Spot bar silver was up ⅛d. and forward ⅛d. in London yesterday. The New York price advanced to 66⅝ cents and the London-New York cross rate declined to 464⅝. Our official rates at the opening were unchanged from Yesterday but the Sterling rate was subsequently raised to 3s. 1d., the Gold Dollar rate to 71½, the Yen rate dropped to 68½ and the other rates changed accordingly.

While at the opening the market was uncertain it steadied up during the day. In the early part of the morning some business in Sterling was done at 3s. 1¼d. January 3s. 0⅞d. February and 3s. 0¾d. March. Gold Dollars were done at the same time at 72¼ January, 71⅞ February and 71½ for forward delivery.

Later in the day, however, the market became very firm with speculators strong sellers and in the afternoon there were sellers of Sterling at 3s. 0⅝d. January, 3s. 1⅛d. February and 3s. 1d. March.

There were sellers of Gold Dollars at 72½ January, 72¼ February and 72 for forward delivery. There were buyers at ⅛d. and ¼ point respectively above these rates.

There were sellers of Yen in the afternoon at 67⅝ January with buyers at 67¼ and sellers at 67⅜ for March with buyers at 67⅝.

Banks were quoting 3s. 2d. and 74 for Sterling and Gold Dollar bills respectively for delivery this side of China New Year and 3s. 1½d. and 73¾ for subsequent deliveries. Franc bills were hard to place but a small business was done at 1040.

On one is to be found any number of good articles at $1.00 and it is surprising what one can get for that trifling amount! The second table holds articles for $2.00, all of which are marked down from regular $4.00, $5.00 and $6.00 articles.

Come and see how far one can make a few dollars go.
